

Agriculture Appeals (Amendment) Bill 2020 Summary of Submissions Received from Coillte

368	Hello Please except my support for the forest bill 2020, my livelihood depends on this bill passing. Forestry is a very important industry in this country, it supports over 12,000 jobs and if this bill is not passed the majority of these people will be on the dole in the next 4months.
855	To whom it may concern-I would like to fully support the amendment to the Agriculture Appeals Act, 2001 to align the forestry licencing and appeals processes with similar planning processes.
906	To the Dept of Agriculture, I am writing to you as a Forester working in Ireland for more than 20 years, to inform you that I fully support the amendment to the Agriculture Appeals Act, 2001 to align the forestry licencing and appeals processes with similar planning processes. This is vital to all that work in the Forest industry, and also to ensure that Forestry can play a key role in Climate Change in Ireland. Thank you,
938	To whom it may concern, The current forest licencing and appeals system is not fit for purpose. A handful of objectors with their own agenda have the power to bring the entire industry to knees. I am part of the larger team who prepare for Felling licence submission. Our team start planning 3 years before fell year. Each block is reviewed by a minimum of 3 registered foresters, and an additional 3 to 4 support staff (admin ecologist, GIS etc.). The work we put in to have available licenced material, keep mills producing, and ensure contractors have work and the industry keeps moving is a huge task. The ability of key-board warriors to cancel all the above is infuriating to say the least. There needs to a genuine appeals process in place and legitimate claims need to be heard and respected by the industry as a whole. The current appeals process puts livelihoods, the timber industry,

	and our nation's ability to meet forest targets at risk. If a handful of activist put a stop to the beef or dairy industry the Department of Agriculture, Food and Marine would have chaos on their hands, just because the forestry industry is a small sector we cannot be ignored. I fully support the amendment to the Agriculture Appeals Act, 2001 to align the forestry licencing and appeals processes with similar planning processes. Kind Regards,
1082	A Chara, I on my own part fully support the amendment to the Agriculture Appeals Act, 2001 to align the forestry licencing and appeals processes with similar planning processes. The uncertain nature of current system does not allow future planning of work programmes to flow, causing a lot of frustration to both foresters and contractors alike. A lot of planned works 'falls between the stools ' resulting in no works being completed . As a young forester that has been living in rural Ireland with a career in forestry for 26 Years, I have never seen such disruption to forestry applications and the bad effect it is having on the forest industry. Regards,

1229	T whom it may concern We have a climate change crises that will and is effecting our environment and the way we live. For me a key element to help us address the challenges of climate change as a nation is the continued development of forestry within Ireland. The current system is working against this and will only have an negative impact on its growth and enhancement of our current forest cover. I [REDACTED], wish to make the following submission regarding the recently drafted amendments to the Agricultural Appeals Act 2001. 2080	To whom it may concern, I wish to lodge my full support for the recently drafted amendments to the Agricultural Appeals Act 2001. These amendments are critical to protect over 12,000 mainly rural jobs in the forestry sector and related industries, in the short, medium and long term. Efficiently mobilising our local forest fibre is critical to meet the demand for timber. These amendments are also critical to ensure the afforestation programme can proceed with adequate conversion of land into forestry to meet our future requirements in terms of supply of raw materials, in terms of carbon capture, in terms of supply of renewable fuels, and in terms

	of increased forest cover in Ireland. I am making this submission as I work in the sector and fully appreciate how important these amendments are in aligning the forestry licencing and appeals processes with similar planning processes, as well as improving the overall efficiency of this system. Regards,

2269	Dear Sir / Madam, I write as a person currently working in an untenable operating environment with regard to regulation and licencing of forestry operations, and the administration of same through the Forest Service.

	Please note that I fully support the proposed amendment to the Agriculture Appeals Act, 2001 to align the forestry licencing and appeals processes with similar planning processes. There are long and unsustainable delays to licences caused by the FAC and it cannot cope with current workloads. Virtually all forestry activity is being affected and serious damage is being caused to the forest industry. The livelihoods of thousands of people associated with the forestry sector (owners, foresters, harvesting contractors, sawmillers, hauliers, etc etc) are at stake here. Future investment in the forestry sector is diminishing rapidly. Farmers are not planting and investors are not investing! It is vital that the FAC is reformed to make it fit for purpose

I have previously managed a major forest nurseries business and have experienced both the financial and psychological impact of having to destroy millions of trees that cannot be sold due to delays in planting approvals. In my current role I have experienced delays in approving both new planting and felling licences. This is having a negative impact on progression of renewable energy projects and our ability to meet future national carbon mitigation targets. Regards,
